A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN OF THE COLLEGE OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS AND POLICY

Asst. Prof. Dr.
Sirisak Laochankham

On behalf of the College of Public Affairs and Policy (COPA), Khon Kaen University, it is my great pleasure to welcome all distinguished guests, keynote speakers, scholars, practitioners, and participants to the Second International Conference on Public Affairs (ICPA2026), held on 19–20 November 2026 in Khon Kaen, Thailand.

This year's conference, under the theme "Public Service Reform in the Age of Global Power Shifts," takes place at a time when governments and societies face unprecedented challenges. Geopolitical tensions, technological disruption, economic uncertainty, and changing public expectations are reshaping the landscape of governance and public service delivery. These developments call for new perspectives, innovative approaches, and stronger collaboration across institutions, sectors, and national boundaries.

ICPA2026 provides an international platform for scholars, policymakers, and practitioners to exchange knowledge, share experiences, and explore practical solutions to these complex challenges. Through keynote addresses, plenary discussions, research presentations, and innovation showcases, we hope to foster meaningful dialogue that advances both the scholarship and practice of public affairs.

This conference also holds special significance as we celebrate 20 years of our College's commitment to advancing public administration education, research, and public service. Our recent transformation from the College of Local Administration to the College of Public Affairs and Policy reflects our expanding academic mission and aspiration to contribute more broadly to public affairs scholarship and governance, while maintaining our longstanding commitment to local governance and community development.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to our distinguished speakers, international partners, organizing committee, sponsors, and all those whose contributions have made this conference possible. Above all, I thank every participant for being part of this important gathering.

May ICPA2026 inspire new ideas, strengthen international partnerships, and encourage collective efforts toward more responsive, inclusive, and effective governance.

Welcome to Khon Kaen, and I wish you a productive and memorable conference.

ABOUT KKU

Khon Kaen University (KKU) is one of Thailand's leading public universities and the first university established in the northeastern region of the country. Founded in 1964, KKU was established as part of Thailand's national initiative to expand higher education beyond Bangkok and promote regional development through education, research, and innovation.

Located in Khon Kaen Province, the university serves as a major educational, research, and academic service center for northeastern Thailand and the Greater Mekong Subregion. Over the decades, KKU has grown into a comprehensive university offering a wide range of academic programs across multiple disciplines, including health sciences, engineering, agriculture, humanities, social sciences, business administration, education, and public affairs.

KKU is committed to producing graduates with strong academic foundations, professional competencies, and a global perspective. Its core missions encompass education, research, academic services, and the preservation of arts and culture. Through these missions, the university seeks to generate knowledge and innovations that address real-world challenges while contributing to sustainable social and economic development.

As an internationally engaged institution, KKU actively promotes academic collaboration, international partnerships, student and faculty exchanges, and joint research initiatives with universities and organizations worldwide. Its strategic emphasis on research excellence and international cooperation reflects its ambition to strengthen its role as a leading regional university with global connections.

Beyond its academic contributions, Khon Kaen University plays an important role in the development of northeastern Thailand by connecting academic knowledge with local communities, public institutions, and the private sector. With its commitment to academic excellence, innovation, and social responsibility, KKU provides an inspiring environment for international academic exchange and interdisciplinary collaboration.

ABOUT COPA

The College of Public Affairs and Policy (COPA) at Khon Kaen University is an academic institution dedicated to advancing knowledge, education, and research in public administration, public policy, governance, and local government. Originally established in 2007 as the College of Local Administration (COLA), the College was founded through collaboration with Thailand's Department of Local Administration under the Ministry of Interior. Its establishment reflected a commitment to strengthening the capacity of local governments and developing professional leaders capable of addressing the challenges of public administration and decentralization.

Since its establishment, the College has developed into an academic and research center connecting theoretical knowledge with practical applications in public affairs and governance. Its educational mission focuses on developing students, public officials, researchers, and future leaders who possess analytical capabilities, ethical values, and the skills necessary to improve public institutions and public service delivery.

COPA's academic interests encompass a broad range of contemporary issues, including public management, local governance, decentralization, public policy, fiscal management, urban development, institutional reform, and public sector innovation. The College also places importance on interdisciplinary research and collaboration with government agencies, local administrative organizations, civil society, and international academic institutions.

Recognizing the increasingly interconnected nature of public affairs, COPA actively promotes international academic cooperation through research partnerships, faculty and student exchanges, international conferences, seminars, and knowledge-sharing activities. It seeks to create opportunities for scholars and practitioners from different countries to exchange experiences, compare institutional arrangements, and develop innovative approaches to public governance.

Beyond its role in higher education, COPA is committed to translating academic research into practical policy recommendations and solutions that respond to the needs of communities and society. By bridging academia, government, and international networks, the College aspires to contribute to more effective, inclusive, transparent, and sustainable public institutions.

Through its commitment to academic excellence, international engagement, and public service, COPA continues to serve as an important platform for advancing scholarship and practice in public affairs and policy in Thailand and the wider region.

ABOUT THE SPEAKERS

Guest of Honor

H.E. Mr. Pakorn Nilprapunt

Deputy Prime Minister of Thailand
Royal Thai Government

H.E. Mr. Pakorn Nilprapunt is Deputy Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Thailand, serving in the government led by Prime Minister Anutin Charnvirakul since March 2026. He brings extensive experience in public administration, legal affairs, institutional reform, and government policy coordination.

Prior to his appointment as Deputy Prime Minister, he served as Secretary-General of the Council of State of Thailand from January 2020, where he played a significant role in providing legal advice to the government, supporting legislative development, and strengthening the country's legal and regulatory framework. He previously held several senior government positions, including Secretary-General of the Office of the Public Sector Development Commission (OPDC), Acting Director of the Office for National Reform, National Strategy and Reconciliation, and Acting Deputy Director of the Prime Minister's Delivery Unit.

As Deputy Prime Minister, he has been assigned oversight of the government's integrated program on anti-corruption and misconduct, reflecting his portfolio's focus on institutional accountability and public sector governance.

Mr. Pakorn holds a Bachelor of Laws from Thammasat University and a Master of Laws from the University of Sydney, Australia. He has also completed executive development programs in public sector management, organizational change, public leadership, and national security.

His extensive experience in government administration and legal reform provides an important perspective on strengthening public institutions, advancing good governance, and enhancing the effectiveness of public administration in Thailand.

Keynote Speaker

Professor Dr. Stephen P. Osborne

Chair of International Public Management and Head of Strategy Group, University of Edinburgh Business School, United Kingdom

Professor Stephen P. Osborne is Chair of International Public Management and Head of the Strategy Group at the University of Edinburgh Business School, United Kingdom. He is also Director of the Centre for Service Excellence and a Fellow of the Edinburgh Futures Institute.

Professor Osborne is one of the leading international scholars in public management and public service research. His academic work has significantly contributed to the development of New Public Governance and Public Service Logic, advancing contemporary understandings of how public services create value through interactions among citizens, government institutions, and wider service ecosystems. His research interests include public service delivery, public management reform, service innovation, co-production, third-sector involvement in public services, and collaborative governance.

Before entering academia in 1990, Professor Osborne spent fifteen years working as a social work practitioner and service manager, bringing substantial professional experience into his academic research. He is the founding and current editor of Public Management Review and the founder and former President of the International Research Society for Public Management (IRSPM). He has published extensively in leading international academic journals and edited influential works on public management and service innovation.

In recognition of his contributions to the discipline, he received an Honorary Doctorate from Corvinus University of Budapest in 2015, alongside international awards for outstanding contributions to public management research.

Keynote Speaker

Professor Dr. Alfred Tat-Kei Ho

Chair Professor, Department of Public and International Affairs and Dean, College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, City University of Hong Kong, China

Prof. Alfred Tat-Kei Ho is Chair Professor in the Department of Public and International Affairs, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences (CLASS), and Director of the Institute of Global Governance and Innovation for a Shared Future (IGGI) at City University of Hong Kong. He is also a member of the Centre for Public Affairs and Law (CPAL).

Professor Ho is an internationally recognized scholar in public policy, public administration, and governance. His research focuses on government performance management, public budgeting, e-government, citizen engagement, and cross-sectoral collaboration in industrial development. His work explores how governments can strengthen institutional capacity, improve public service delivery, and foster effective collaboration among public, private, and civil society actors.

Beyond academia, Professor Ho is an elected Overseas Fellow of the U.S. National Academy of Public Administration and Vice President for Asia of the International Research Society for Public Management (IRSPM). He has also contributed to policy advisory work in Hong Kong and collaborated with international organizations, including the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) and the Asian Development Bank.

He received his bachelor's degree from The Chinese University of Hong Kong and earned both his Master of Public Administration and Ph.D. from Indiana University Bloomington, United States. Before returning to Hong Kong in 2020, he spent more than 20 years teaching at universities in the United States.
